Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 14 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain clearing overnight followed by local frost first thing Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain moving south across the region overnight, with the odd heavier burst possible. This clearing away during the early hours of Friday morning. Colder conditions follow on behind, bringing the risk of a local frost first thing. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Friday:
A chilly start to Friday but also much clearer skies than of late. A good deal of sunshine throughout the day, though feeling cooler than recent days. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Another chilly start on Saturday but steadily turning cloudier and milder again. Gradually turning more unsettled and breezier from Sunday into next week and remaining mild by day and night.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.